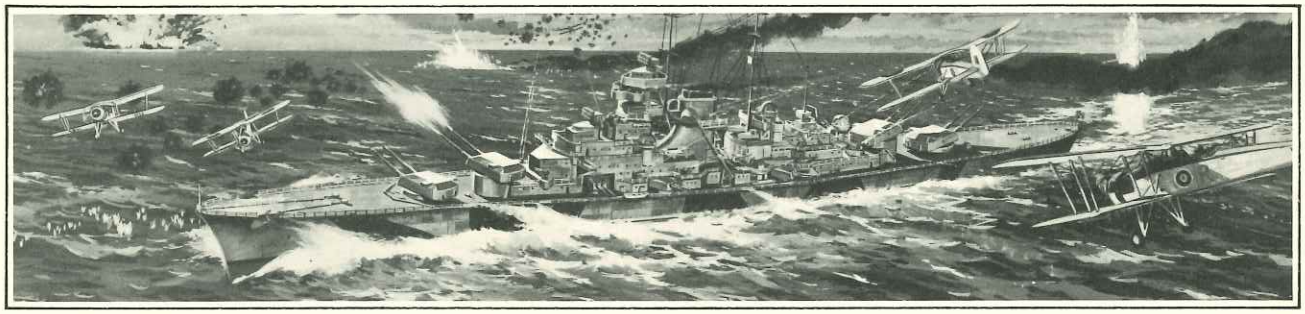
TAKE COMMAND OF THE

AIRFIX NAVY

TASK FORCE 600

Off the coast of France in 1941, HMS Hood moved in on the German Battleship Bismarck, and one of the major naval battles in the European theater of war began. And you're right there in the smoke and screaming shells when you join the 1/600 constant scale Airfix Navy. Or if it's the civilian ocean liners you go for, Airfix has the 1/600 kits you'll want to build . . . quality kits you'll be proud to display. And there's a stand in every kit to let you do just that. Join up, go navy . . . the Airfix Navy.



THE BISMARCK — German battleship laid down in 1936 and launched Feb. 14, 1939. On May 24, 1941 attacked by a squadron of British Swordfish torpedo planes, with at least one hit. On May 26 she was sighted by British destroyers led by HMS Cossack. Already on fire and drastically slowed, she was sunk. Only 110 survivors were recovered from the original crew of more than 2,000.

#S1-129 ..... Retail: $1.29

HMS HOOD — Laid down in 1915 and launched Aug. 22, 1918 — too late to see WWI action. Made many good-will and training cruises until refitting and rearming for WWII. In May of 1941 the Hood joined other ships and planes in attacking the German Battleship Bismarck. The 3rd and 5th salvos struck HMS Hood amidships, and she sunk within two minutes leaving but 3 survivors.

#S2-129 ..... Retail: $1.29

THE SCHARNHORST — German Battleship launched in 1936. Played important role in invasion of Norway during early WWII. Throughout 1942 and 1943, she was hunted down by British ships and planes, and was finally sunk by HMS Duke of York in December of 1943. She had 11-inch main batteries, and carried a crew of 1,461. She was 775 feet long and had a top speed of 30 knots.
